1. Some tax preparation software require you to enter the full value of your food & drink expenses and will automatically calculate the deductible amount.
 2. Heads up: If you claim your mileage deduction, your tax preparer may hesitate to claim this expense for you! Typically, routine car cleaning counts as a “maintenance” expense, and is included in the standard mileage rate. However, rideshare drivers buy car washes at a rate that is far above the norm. Stride believes this expense would still be deductible alongside the mileage deduction.
 3. If you are deducting your mobile phone, you will need to depreciate it as a business asset.

Stride Health Inc. is not responsible for the accuracy of deductions recorded by the user. We recommend consulting with a tax professional before claiming any deductions entered.
